Menagerie Fleet Racing

29th May 2022

Unfortunately the Menagerie class race results, first race 29th May 2022 have been lost.

The race committee proposes to award scores to the boats starting in that race as follows.

Boats will be allocated a score equivalent to their average score for all races in which that boat has started from the beginning of the series up until the last race in September 2022.

At the beginning of October the averages will be calculated and published. This will allow all boats to understand their position accurately for the last races of the series in October.

Any boat which believes that they have been unfairly treated by this resolution may submit a claim for redress in the normal way. Please bear in mind that any outcome must treat all competitors in the same way.
